The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management. In fact, many times they do not.

THAT SPEECH

Mr. Roosevelt being a smart man, I do not think he would even attempt to deny that his recent address to Congress was more of a political speech than a document of state.

CAMPAIGN DOCUMENT

It is the duty of the President upon the convening of Congress to send it a message dealing with "the state of the union," and presidents heretofore have confined their messages to a survey of conditions and recommendations for new and what they consider is needed and beneficial legislation.

Stung by widespread criticism of New Deal policies, the declaration of their unconstitutionality by the Supreme Court, and the realization that his personal popularity is fast waning, the President, it is to be regretted, lost the poise and balance for which he has been famous and perverted a prerogative of his high office to start his campaign for re-election.

The message analyzed, resolves itself into slaps on the wrist for Italy and Japan, and a verbal chastigation of those who do not agree with him.

THE REAL OBJECT

It was palpably evident when Mr. Roosevelt insisted on delivering his message at a special night session in contravention of custom, he had

Bodies Of 2 Antioch Boys Recovered

ANTIOCH, Jan. 6.—UP—Bodies of Fred Walker, 15, and Junior Wendell Brooks, 16, who drowned with two companions last night in the murky waters of the San Joaquin river when their tiny skiff was swamped, were recovered tonight.

The bodies, identified by parents and friends, were brought to the surface with grappling hooks by Sheriff John Miller and Fire Chief James Taylor.

Four boatloads of county and city officers and friends spent the entire day dragging the rugged river bottom. Fear was expressed that the bodies of Ted Hackmiller, 15, and Henry Guadagna, 16, had been carried under ledges along the shore and would not be found immediately.

The bodies of Walker and Brooks were found approximately 400 yards downstream from where the youths floundered in the choppy waters after their boat was swamped by heavy waves.

Searchers said they will continue their hunt for the two remaining bodies tomorrow.

Oakland Girl Is Killed In Car Accident

MARTINEZ, Jan. 6.—Fatally injured in an automobile crash on the Ice House road, one mile west of Pittsburg, Saturday night, Miss Barbara McMahon, pretty 17-year-old Oakland girl, died in Antioch hospital Sunday morning.

Two youths, one the driver of the automobile, were held at the sheriff's office here for questioning. They escaped serious injury but Mrs. Julie Bowman, 18, of 329 Grove street, Oakland, another passenger suffered a broken right leg above the knee, and also was taken to Antioch hospital. She was removed to Merritt hospital in Oakland yesterday.

Harold Miller, 20, of 1915 Fruitvale avenue, Oakland, and George Franklin, 18, of 553 Twenty-seventh street, Oakland, also passengers in the machine suffered only minor injuries.

The youths detained were Lyle Zimmerman, 19, of 1213 Thirty-fourth street, Oakland, the driver, and Joe Wise, 19, of 464 Ellita street, Oakland.

They were subsequently released.

TAMPERING CHARGED IN GIRL SUIT

$500,000 IS DEMAND OF S.F. HEIRESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—UP—Ann Cooper Hewitt, 21, one of America's least known dollar princesses, broke through the "prison" she charged her money had built, to file suit today against her mother, asking $500,000 damages for a sterilization operation.

In blunt terms covering years of asserted mistreatment, she charged that her much-married mother, Mrs. Maryon Bruguiere Denning Hewitt D'Eranger McCarter, caused the operation to be performed by two San Francisco doctors after she had been classed as "feeble minded."

The sterilization, she insisted, was performed without her knowledge.

Charges were made that hospital records of the sterilization operation performed on the girl on August 18, 1934 had been falsified in an attempt to establish some justification for the operation. Russell P. Tyler, attorney for the girl, declared that chemical and microscopic tests show that the words "organs" and "infantile" as they appear in the record were inserted, probably within the last few days although the card bears the 1934 date.

PLOT HINTED

It was a part of a plot by the dashing Mrs. McCarter to obtain sole control of a $2,000,000 estate, Anne asserted. She cited the fact that her father, Peter Cooper Hewitt of New York, provided in his will that if she died without issue

Bonus Bill Is Given Favorable House Report

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—UP—The House Ways and Means committee today cleared the path for early consideration of the Veterans' Bonus bill by giving it a favorable report on the measure.

Formality of a ruling from the House Rules committee was all that remained to bring the measure up for a vote. House leaders expected the bill may be out of the way by Tuesday and on its way to the Senate.

All advocates for immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus are united behind the measure and its passage was assured.

Representative M. Zioncheck, D-Washington, presented a resolution which would provide for investigation of all old aged pension "rackets and schemes." The measure apparently was aimed at the Townsend plan and the hearings may be used as a sounding board to build up sentiment so that Townsend opponents can justify their stand to voters.

Naville Last Rites Held Here Monday

Private funeral services were held in Oakland yesterday under the direction of the Richmond Funeral Home for the late Mrs. Marion Alice Naville, 514 Macdonald avenue, who died Saturday.

Rev. J. A. TenBroeck officiated at the services and cremation was at Oakland.

Benson Funeral Held At Chapel

Rev. C. R. Hegg of Pinole officiated at funeral services held yesterday from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel for the late Fred Benson, 61 of Pinole who was killed in an automobile accident New Year's eve. Cremation followed at an Oakland crematory.

HAUPTMANN IS GIVEN BRIEF STAY

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—UP—Bruno Richard Hauptmann was given a few more days of life today when officials of Trenton State prison decided they would not execute him on the night of Tuesday, January 14, but would postpone it until later in the week.

It is customary in New Jersey to execute prisoners on Tuesday night but January 14 coincides with the opening of the legislature, and for that reason Principal Keeper Mark O. Kimberling decided on a postponement. Kimberling refused to reveal the new date set for the execution, but most persons believe it will be Friday, January 17.

It was announced tonight that the New Jersey Court of Pardons would meet at 10:30 A. M. Saturday to hear Hauptmann's appeal for commutation of sentence. At that session of the eight men, including Governor Harold G. Hoffman, Hauptmann's lawyers will present the mysterious "new evidence" about which they have been talking for a fortnight.

George Black Is Re-Elected Head Of Pension Club

All officers were re-elected last evening when the Richmond Townsend Club convened at WOW hall. Delegates to the sixth congressional district meeting were also elected.

George Black was re-elected president; Isaac McGuffin, vice president; Violet Klemm, secretary and Mrs. Bertha Martin, treasurer. Delegates named: George Black, Dr. J. M. Heagy, Mrs. Nella Dimmock, Mrs. Violet Klemm and Isaac Lester.

Friday night a large delegation of local club members will go to Martinez to hear a talk by James B. Waters, Townsend writer. Dr. J. M. Heagy spoke last night.

Kinstrey Is Named Head Of Allied Veterans

John Kinstrey, commander of Richmond Post of the American Legion, was elected president of the Allied War Veterans Council last evening at a meeting held at the Memorial hall.

Kinstrey will succeed Jack Bodin of the United Spanish War Veterans, who served as president during 1935.

Mrs. Pearl Outman was named as vice-president and Mrs. Meta Crose was elected secretary. Both Mrs. Outman and Mrs. Crose are members of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Reports on the Christmas tree party held by the veterans were heard at the very short business meeting of the group.

Wilson Dads Will Meet On Wednesday

Dr. L. H. Fraser will be speaker when the Woodrow Wilson Dads Club holds its meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the school. Dr. John Green will preside. Dr. Green stated yesterday that the meeting will be of great interest to the dads. He has urged everyone to attend.

AAA Held Invalid By Supreme Court; Benefit Payments To Be Halted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—UP—The United States Supreme Court today killed the AAA—main pillar of the Administration farm program—in a sharply worded opinion which cast serious doubts over the legality of other vital New Deal reform and recovery laws.

The recovery agency announced soon afterward that it would stop all benefit payments immediately.

In a 6 to 3 decision, the nation's highest tribunal held that the AAA was wholly unconstitutional because it invaded the rights of the states in seeking to control farm production. The whole system of processing taxes imposed to finance the program was swept into the discard.

Developments in connection with the devastating opinion today included:

1.—The government may be compelled to impose new taxes. President Roosevelt said in his budget message today that AAA would be made a permanent part of the government.

2.—The federal treasury may have to pay more than $600,000,000 pledged to certain groups of farmers for co-operation in crop reduction.

3.—President Roosevelt conferred immediately with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and congressional farm leaders to study the opinion and prepare new legislation.

4.—Congressional leaders predicted the decision would add many weeks to the present session of Congress.

5.—A dissenting opinion signed by the three liberal jurists on the bench warned sharply that the courts did not have a monopoly on capacity to govern.

6.—The fate of $200,000,000 in processing taxes tied up in the courts is in doubt.

7.—Collection of processing taxes will be stopped immediately. The

Dr. Boehmer Gives Radio Safety Talk

After making a most interesting address on Safety Council work over KGO early last evening, the retiring president of the local organization, later appeared before the council and told the officials of the work that had been accomplished during the year in which it had been operating, thanked the members of the council, and police department for the aid that had been given in the past twelve months, and gave assurances of an enlarged program for the coming year.

The talk was greeted with applause, and responded to by Mayor W. W. Scott, who expressed the opinion that he believed that every citizen who takes an interest in safety work is proud of the work that the Richmond Safety Council has accomplished in the past 12 months. "Every member of your organization deserves the thanks of the people of this city," said Scott, "and I wish to thank you personally for the work you have accomplished."

State Farm Leaders Hit By Decision

By United Press

Leaders of California agriculture—the state's basic industry—Monday generally regarded as a "calamity" the ruling of the Supreme Court voiding the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

E. D. Woodruff, president of California Land, Inc., one of the major operators of California farm properties with vast acreages throughout the state regarded the decision as a blow to the agriculture of the nation.

Alex Johnson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation expressed grave concern for the future of California agriculture.

HAWAII STUNNED

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 6.—UP—General bewilderment prevailed among Hawaiian sugar industry leaders tonight as they began taking stock of the probable effect of today's supreme court decision holding the Agricultural Adjustment Administration act unconstitutional.

HOP GROWERS HIT

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 6.—UP—Oregon hop growers tonight saw little hope for completion of the proposed Pacific Coast hop production control plan in view of the Supreme Court's AAA invalidation.

Jr. Townsend Club Formed At Meeting Here

Organization of a Junior Townsend Club was perfected last evening at a meeting held at the W. O. W. hall at Seventh street and Macdonald avenue.

More than 25 members were enrolled during the session which was directed by Isaac McGuffin.

Officers for the organization include Lucille Schultz, president; Earl Power, vice president; Caroline Schultz, secretary and Ralph Wilkins as treasurer.

McGuffin was named as counselor for the organization. The Junior club will meet each Monday night at the small lodge hall at the WOW hall at the same time that the senior club holds its meeting.

A concerted membership drive will be started by the group in the near future.

Moore Last Rites Held On Monday

Friends gathered at the Wilson and Kratzer chapel yesterday to pay their respect to the memory of the late Samuel Moore, 32, of 119 Ohio avenue, who died Saturday. Rev. J. Chester White officiated at the services and interment was in Sunset view cemetery.

Palbearers were James McLinden, James McCandless, E. McLennan, V. A. Burgin, C. F. Pruitt and Claude Wilson.

ROOSEVELT ASKS ARMY, NAVY CASH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—UP—President Roosevelt today asked Congress to appropriate $995,007,104 for American national defense to meet the threats of a war-menaced world.

Surpluses on hand for the 1936-37 fiscal year and extra appropriations are expected to send the defense figure over the billion dollar mark for the second consecutive year.

DEFENSE CASH ASKED

The President last year asked Congress for defense appropriations of $792,481,265 but Congress actually authorized more than $900,000,000, plus some relief funds given for defense work. The present budget figure includes activities of the United States army engineers on rivers and harbors and construction projects that have little connection with defense.

Mr. Roosevelt asked for additional funds "in bringing the navy up to strength contemplated by the naval treaties and to provide for replacement and improved equipment and additional personnel for the army."

NAVY NEEDS TOLD

The President said the navy needed $551,308,399 while the army requirements totaled $443,699,305. Appropriations asked for the war department's strictly military activities amounted to $369,586,298, an increase of approximately $20,000,000 over those of the present year. The entire navy appropriation is for defense.

Palmborg Rites Will Be Held At Chapel Today

A Lutheran funeral service will be held from the Richmond Funeral Home at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the late Otto J. Palmborg, El Cerrito pioneer who died at an Albany hospital on Sunday night. Interment will be in Sunset View cemetery.

Decceased was a native of Sweden and had lived in El Cerrito for the past 27 years. He was 58-years-old and was a marine officer.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lizzie Palmborg; two daughters, Miss Esther Palmborg and Mrs. Agnes Madison of El Cerrito; a son, Herbert Palmborg of El Cerrito and three grandchildren.

Banks Accept State Warrants

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—UP—A group of San Francisco and Los Angeles banks tonight announced acceptance of state relief warrants in the amount of $1,900,000 but warned state officials they would not continue to do so until given assurance future issues were backed by adequate funds.

San Francisco banks participating in the purchase of the warrants included the American Trust, Bank of America, Bank of California, Anglo-California National Crocker National, Wells Fargo bank and Union Trust Company.

In announcing the purchase of the warrants the banks said they desired to cooperate in meeting a critical situation in the state finances but could not continue to do so in the absence of assurance of future revenues in sight from which the warrants can be paid.

Denies

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT, son of the President, who branded as "pure libel" the charges made by former Brigadier General William Mitchell that he once operated a powerful lobby. Young Roosevelt said he had never done anything of the kind. He is shown above dressed in western fashion at the F. P. ranch at Bartlesville, Okla.

DOG TRACK HEARING IS SWELL SHOW

MARTINEZ, Jan. 6.—The preliminary examination of the men arrested in the raid on the El Cerrito dog track, last December 18th, held before Justice of the Peace A. B. Wilson today was not a glittering success as a trial proceeding, but ranked high as a vaudeville act.

When the shades of night began their usual stunt of falling, hardly a dent had been made in the legal pathway which leads to trial in the Superior court, and an adjournment was taken until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock so Attorney Leo Sullivan could appear in another county in behalf of a client who has gotten himself in trouble in an auto smash-up.

ALL KNEW NOTHING

It was the most outstanding instance of a know nothing session that has ever been heard in a Contra Costa county court of high or low jurisdiction. Judge Wilson frankly admitted that he knew nothing about dog racing, the operation of dog tracks or how options are purchased on the canines. This candid statement was preliminary to a session in which abnormal ignorance was displayed by the few witnesses who were called to the stand.

TURNER STATES CASE

The show, opened with a statement by Deputy District Attorney Gordon Turner, in charge of the December 18 raid, who outlined what the prosecution thought it could prove. Seated by him and called to the stand were:

Council For More Light Less Speed

Adequate lighting of San Pablo avenue and slowing down of traffic to lessen the number of accidents on that thoroughfare, were recommended to the City Council of El Cerrito last evening in a communication from Walter Holland, Light Commissioner J. R. Beck and Police Commissioner Louis Navillier was delegated the matter for investigation for the period of one week.

In the opinion of Navillier most of the accidents on San Pablo are due to poor lighting. A canvass of property owners was made about a year ago to ascertain their views as to the installation of electric lights, but it was found that there was an adverse sentiment among them of about 85 per cent.

A possible solution of the problem was advanced by Street Commissioner W. F. Huber who suggested that the city use part of the gasoline tax money, provided the plan meets with the approval of the city council.

Candidates To Be Scrutinized

FRESNO, Jan. 6.—UP—Despite their admitted failure to reach any definite plan of action, directors of the California Republican Assembly met Fresno today with the announced intent that a "thorough investigation" of the sentiment as to all presidential candidates would be made and reported to the assembly at Santa Barbara next month.

The directors concluded a two-day meeting here with adoption of a resolution calling for investigation of all candidates, particularly Governor Frank Merriam.

ing president of the council, in opening his talk, said that during the past year in the carrying out of the work of the council that a debt of gratitude was due Chief of Police L. E. Jones and his men, and especially Officer Allen J. Cundy who had been at the head of the traffic school. All of the work of the police department, the speaker said, had been done outside of regular working hours. Dr. Boehmer also thanked the members of the city official family for the aid they had extended, and also to the newspapers for their co-operation in carrying out a campaign of education.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

"Because we are an organization that is purely educational," he continued, "we realize that the most important function which our Traffic Safety Council could perform in its efforts to reduce traffic accidents would be to concentrate on an educational campaign."

"With this in mind, we decided to have only a few major objectives, so that our efforts in our beginning could be concentrated on the few definite objectives."

MAKING SAFE DRIVERS

"The first of these was the establishment of a traffic school to provide a means of handling our traffic law violators in such a manner that we might convert them into safe drivers."

"We wanted our traffic violators to realize that we were interested in making our streets safe, not alone for the motoring public but for everyone. Our success in the organization of our traffic school has been outstanding. Much credit for this, of course, is due to the splendid cooperation which we have received from our public officials, especially your police department."

NO INTERFERENCE

"Our second objective was this: 'That the Richmond Traffic Safety Council is opposed to any interference whatsoever with the police department in their enforcement of traffic ordinances. Now, to the average citizen this would mean we are opposed to ticket fixing and that this was our real purpose in this objective. Our real aim was to change the attitude of our citizens so that they would be in sympathy with the traffic officers in the fulfillment of their duties. This objective in our program has resulted in a very real evidence of the desired cooperation."

THIRD OBJECTIVE

"Our third objective was to assist in the organization of traffic clubs in the high school and the junior high schools of our city. We recognize the need of reaching this group at an age when we might thoroughly impress upon them the necessity for developing 'Safety Consciousness.'"

CONTINUOUS EDUCATION

"Our fourth objective was of providing a continuous educational campaign. Safety is not a subject which lends itself readily to the public interest. Safety affects everyone and deserves the active support of everyone. Repetition in a grow tiresome but no one can deny its effectiveness. We have tried by means of a continuous campaign to make safety a part of our daily community life."

WORK JUST BEGUN

"Such were the four major objectives of our Richmond Traffic Safety Council in the first year of its existence. Our success in attaining these four objectives will not cause us to lessen our efforts or relax our vigilance in the least. Traffic safety objectives are never really finished, they are only ways just begun, for the problem of traffic safety consciousness is only in its infancy."

MR. AND MRS. HENRY LANE of 1803 Roosevelt avenue, returned yesterday to San Diego, where they are spending the winter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Though the fundamental difference between the President's neutrality bill and that proposed by members of the Senate munitions committee centers around one word, that one word promises to cause one of the most important battles of the session.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—UP—The New Year didn't pass in the film colony without resolutions. Here's what some of Hollywood's celebrities are promising themselves for the next 12 months:

Mae West: Not to give another interview on "How To Hold a Man" after all, I've never had one.

Marlene Dietrich: To make more pictures like "Desire."

W. C. Fields: Not to stand for any more nonsense from Baby LeRoy. I'm just waiting for him to grow up so I can smack him down.

Jack Oakie: Not to grow any more mustaches. They don't fit my personality, and besides I get tired of having little kids ask me "Won't you sign your autograph for me Mr. Gable?"

Charlie Ruggles: Not to let my kennel business go to the dogs. And to keep the dogs away from my chicken ranch.

Joe Penner: To sell a duck.

Gary Cooper: To travel to croon. If that Crosby is going to ride horses, I'm going to sing.

Baby LeRoy: To make one more picture with W. C. Fields, and to put him in his place once and for all.

Carole Lombard: To show higher and better and more novel parties.

George Raft: To play a part in which I can get my hair mussed.

Henry Wilcoxon: To get out of armor.

George Burns: Not to insult Grace once for a year.

Grace Allen: To cheer George up by talking to him more. I've been entirely too quiet lately.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—There were so many celebrities—from Postmaster Jim Farley and Mary Garden to Gene Tunney and Constance Talmadge—at the opening of "Jumbo" that the movie cameras could not catch them all.

There's stuff in this writer.

GEORAPHER—The air around Times Square was filled with a sour, acidic odor early last Sunday morning. Two taxi drivers were standing on a corner near the "parked machines, waiting for fares. Finally they began sniffing the unpleasant odor suspiciously.

"Yeah—smells like sauerkraut," offered the second.

"Yeah," agreed the first. "Must be a racket up in Yorkville!"

It's a long hop to the three-mile distant German quarter of Manhattan—even for a cab driver.

HORSES, HORSES—New York's definitely zoo conscious. Ever since the Central Park zoo opened in Manhattan and the Prospect Park zoo in Brooklyn, the town's citizenry has been flocking to see the animals in unprecedented numbers.

They average about 175,000 a week at the former, and 100,000 at the latter. And up in the Bronx park zoo the attendance is almost 2,000,000 a year. I'd forgotten that the Bronx collection of animals is the largest in the country, second in size only to the menagerie in Berlin—and even that collection has fewer species.

IRON MAN—Albert Rein, author of the recent play "Let Freedom Ring" is a fellow to command your attention. The mild-mannered little playwright was once a bank robber and hobo, who lost a leg fleeing freight car cops before he finally turned to authorship.

The story of his life would make a play in itself. Rein ran away from the slums of Chicago when he was 14. He robbed an icebox because he was hungry, and served two years in a reformatory. He tried farming for a while, afterwards, and then tried to crash Hollywood. But nothing much happened until he reached 22, when he met up with a couple of fast boys in Kansas City.

They tried to rob a bank, and Rein landed in the penitentiary for a three-year stretch.

There he began writing, sending the paper into his cell, for the guards beat him up whenever they discovered his secret occupation. Clarence Darrow and Zola Gale read his early things and encouraged him on. It was while head-

THRILLER ON BILL AT FOX THEATER TODAY

Crammed with action, thrills and romance, "Mary Burns, Fugitive" starring Sylvia Sydney, which heads the two-feature program at the Fox theater today, is a swift-moving, soul-stirring film.

Sharing the billing with "Mary Burns, Fugitive" is "Paramount's smashing musical romance, "Millions In The Air."

"Mary Burns, Fugitive" is an emotionally powerful, tensely dramatic production, full of romance and adventure. The story centers around Miss Sidney, in love with Alan Baxter, unaware that he is a public enemy, knowing only that he is an ex-convict star.

Escaping with stolen bonds, Baxter is caught at Miss Sidney's restaurant retreat in the mountains. Making a quick getaway, Miss Sidney is trapped with the bonds, arrested and sentenced to prison. How she escapes jail and gets started straight again is revealed in a crashing, dramatic climax which brings the film to a thrilling finale.

The cast includes Melvyn Douglas, Paul Kellon, Alan Baxter, Wallace Ford, Brian Donlevy and William Pawley.

With a radio amateur hour furnishing the background for "Millions In The Air" singing busboys, dancing stenographers, musical code jokers and talented clerks pass in review. In the cast are such well-known stage and screen stars as Wendy Barrie, George Barbier, John Howard, Eleanor Whitney, Dave Chasen, Willie Howard and Benny Baker.

SILVER MOOTH

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON (AUTHOR OF "CASTLE OF DOOM")

Kurt Hastings, secretly known as the Silver Mooth, who makes a business of dangerous adventures, is persuaded by a stranger to take a mysterious packet of documents from Rome to Mr. Bruce Dalton's secretary in Cairo. He then hastens to his sister, Christine Masters, who has written begging him to come to her at Kom-el-Ahmar, near Cairo. Kurt finds a strained situation among the Europeans there and learns that they are all engaged in a big secret enterprise which has already cost the lives of three people. Kurt is warned to leave Kom-el-Ahmar immediately, before he is sorry. Attempts are being made on Grey Masters' life and even Christine is drugged one night.

There was a despondent note in Grey's voice that touched Kurt. He put a hand on his brother-in-law's shoulder.

"If I thought Chris would leave, I'd do it; but you know as well as I do that she won't leave you in danger. Grey tell me the truth so that I can help you."

"I have nothing to say." Kurt controlled an angry retort and lighted another cigarette. He stood, looking down at Grey for several seconds.

"Very well," he said. "I'll tell you what I know. You the Larkers, Tobermann, Lemartin, Miss Andrews the Belding girl and Dalton are evidently engaged in some big enterprise—probably illegal—judging from your fear of the police. Someone is double-crossing you."

GREY smiled faintly. "Know a lot, don't you? You've forgotten Menelas, who is dead, and Tullio Coltani."

"So Colani is in it too? And you believe that one of the lot is the double-crosser?"

"Yes." "Very well, and if I should succeed in proving who it is, what then?"

"Then," Grey exclaimed with sudden vehemence, "the chief will know what to do."

Kurt stared at Grey meditatively. Then he came to a decision. "Do you want to engage me to discover the identity of this person?" he asked quietly.

Grey looked honestly perplexed. "Engage you?"

"Yes, give me the job. I've been trying to do it unofficially. I'd rather have an official status now."

"Good lord, man, how do I know you are fitted for it? You're not a detective, are you?"

"No," Kurt grinned. "but I specialize in getting people out of trouble."

"Do you mean that seriously?"

"Very." "How much do you want?"

"I'll name my price when I've succeeded."

THAT'S rather a dangerous bargain to make," Grey said slowly. "The price will be fair enough." Kurt said calmly. "I promise you that."

"I have no authority to decide." "Quite all right. I want you to call a meeting of the whole gang and tell them exactly what I have proposed."

"You want everyone to know what you are going to do?"

"Yes. I think then we may get quicker action. You might also tell your chief to inform the assembled company what and who I am."

Grey said nothing. "The sooner the better," Kurt insisted.

Grey stood up. "Very well, I'll go now."

He left the room and Kurt sat down with a sigh.

He sat in his long body humped up in the chair, his eyes closed for a long time. It must have been an hour later when Grey returned. He looked worried and excited.

"Well," he said, "the meeting is called for six o'clock but there will be one member shy."

Kurt caught the strained note in the other's voice and stood up abruptly. Had Sonia gone? Had anything happened to her?

"Someone missing?" he asked sharply.

"Yes, Coltani has vanished, apparently in his pajamas."

"Listen," he said slowly, "there is a boat leaving tomorrow. Take Chris with you and clear out."

MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM

That form of rheumatism called muscular rheumatism by the layman is referred to as fibrositis by the doctor. Fibrositis means an inflammation of fibrous tissue, which lies in between the bundles of muscle tissue. When the fibrous tissue is inflamed this produces the soreness and pain in the muscles affected which are the chief symptoms of which the patient complains.

The patient suffering from muscular rheumatism is easily led to believe that most of the trouble lies in the muscles; however, this is not the case as rheumatism has a constitutional cause. When the primary cause is established, then comparatively trivial causes, such as over-use of the muscles, or exposure to cold or to damp, may serve as exciting causes, bringing on the attack. The cold or damp weather will produce a temporary slowing up of the circulation in some particular part and the muscles of that part will become painful, stiff, or sore because of the accumulation of rheumatic toxins in that area due to the sluggish circulation. Cold, damp, or over-exertion are simply exciting causes and have the power to induce an attack only when the fundamental toxic condition is present.

Fibrositis may attack the muscular tissue of any part of the body but its favorite sites are the muscles of the neck and the muscles of the lower back. It is more common among men than among women and is known in both an acute and a chronic form. The symptoms vary according to whether the disease is acute or chronic but as a general rule the acute attacks steadily grow worse, until more or less permanent muscular disability results. In the acute attack, the pain in the muscles may be very intense and may prove so severe that the patient will make every effort to keep from moving the affected muscles. In the chronic form, the painful sensation may be noticeable only when the patient attempts to move the muscles and at other times may subside into a dull ache. Considerable stiffness is the rule and the patient will notice that he feels worse as soon as he becomes quiet. The patient with muscular rheumatism will try to keep as quiet as possible and will hug the fire, if left to his own devices.

In the treatment of muscular rheumatism, I find that the fast taken at the start will obtain the best possible results, as during the fast, the blood chemistry will be adjusted closer to the normal. Also, during this time, the body will cleanse itself of the irritating substances which have accumulated and which produce soreness, stiffness and lameness, when localized in muscular tissue. Usually the pain in the muscles will leave after two or three days on the fasting regimen if the patient is having an acute attack. In chronic cases, a longer time may be required to secure results but even so the good effect of the fast will be apparent. During the fast it is important that the patient secure one good meal daily.

Following the fast, the greatest benefit will be secured if the patient uses a diet consisting of leafy green vegetables for several days. After this time a well-balanced diet may be used and the patient is given a moderate amount of meat, cooked vegetables and salads, but is advised to use only the minimum amount of starches and sugars, or to avoid these altogether for a time.

The use of heat is of value in securing relief from the pain of muscular rheumatism. The patient may immerse the body twice a day in a tub of hot water to which has been added a handful of Epsom salt. Or, the hot water bottle may be used, or the electric pad, etc. However, it is well to remember that such relief is temporary and that for permanent relief, reliance must be placed on removing the systemic cause.

I have two articles on RHEUMATISM which I will be glad to send you. To obtain them, write to me in care of this newspaper and enclose one large, self-addressed envelope and ten cents.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Catarrh)
Question: Mrs. L. P. writes: "What is the exact meaning of the word 'catarrh'? I hear a lot about catarrh but I am not sure just what kind of a disorder is meant by this term."

Answer: Catarrh refers to inflammation of a mucous membrane, the outstanding symptom being an increase in the mucus secreted by such a membrane. The abnormal secretion of mucus from the glands located in the membrane. Catarrhal inflammation may occur in any of the mucus membranes of the body. Catarrh of the nose and throat is probably the most prevalent form, although catarrhal inflammation as occurring in the ear and leading to catarrhal deafness, is also common. The three main causes which produce catarrhal inflammation are: first, over-eating of starch and sugar; second, constipation; and third, insufficient skin elimination. Probably the reason that so many people allow chronic catarrh in itself is not dangerous to life. Many people do not realize that chronic catarrh of the nose and throat may extend to the ear and cause deafness, although this fact is well established. The treatment of catarrh is essentially the same, regardless of what part of the body is involved.

(Rapid Heart Action)
Question: Miss Betty W. asks: "What makes my heart beat so fast? It is so rapid, especially after meals, that I am frightened."

Answer: A rapid heart beat occurring only after a meal is most likely due to over-distention of the stomach by food or by accumulated gas. However, the same symptom may be produced by nervousness, by a disturbance of the thyroid gland, valvular heart leakage, etc. Try making your meals more simple to see if this is of benefit. Food would intensify this symptom.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Prenatal Injuries of Babies Do Not Occur From Mental Visions

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

THE profession is met constantly with questions concerning things that may happen to the unborn child. Much of the questioning is done by prospective mothers who have made no study for themselves of the period of pregnancy, its demands, and the possible safeguards. Practically all of the search for information is bound up in a mass of old folk lore that persists from generation to generation. The greater part of these traditions are wholly family or neighborhood myths, which always made good material for conversation during a neighborly visit.

The question of injury being suffered by a child before birth has been argued at great length. Expectant mothers have been warned that they should avoid certain things. That if they looked on serious accidents or became greatly frightened the reaction would mark the unborn child. The injury was supposed to take the form of the accident observed; a severe burn would likely cause a red birth mark.

The sight of an amputated foot or arm could result in the baby having a deformed foot or arm, and so on. When a child was born with some physical defect, diligent search was made through the past nine months for the supposed cause. Many a new mother has come into her delivery with frightened imaginations of what may have happened to disfigure her child.

Father Often Confused

We are accustomed to having a new father look incredulous at the first sight of his offspring and say, "It doesn't look like I thought it would. Is it all right?" It is our great joy to run hastily over the tiny red wrinkled specimen and when our fingers have found no fault give the word of assurance.

Meantime, if the mother is conscious, she is probably asking over and over if the child is all right. Thus it is a further, and even greater, joy to reassure her and settle her fears.

It is unfortunate that the added strain of apprehension should be attached to an experience already filled with suffering. The idea of using the column to dispense opinions of these pre-natal worries and at the same time to emphasize the needs of the period grew out of some recent questions from correspondents.

Accidents can happen to the unborn child just as they can happen after birth, but we know that the cause of deformity and lack of development is not due to some mental disturbance of the mother nearly so much as it is to a nutritional deficiency.

As our knowledge of the role played by food and vitamins in physical and mental development increases we are better able to explain these unusual occurrences. We have found the old saying of "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" applies here.

Vitamins Are Needed

We know that when the mother does not receive enough vitamins A, B, and D, her child suffers from the deficiency. As a result, the child is under-developed or lacking in vigor.

If her food, either because of limited quantity or due to extreme nausea, lacks these vitamins of calcium or phosphorus her child will not be born with a perfect frame.

As a result of this knowledge we now begin as early as possible to care for the mother and see she is given the best possible chance to nourish her baby. Many of the so-called hereditary defects are, in fact, the result of an improper nourishment of one generation which prevailed in a later one.

Certain deformities, such as under-formed feet, doubtless are caused by some accident to the mother in the very early stage of pregnancy, an accident sufficiently serious to crush or injure the ovum itself.

Quite rarely an accident will result in inflammation and later in adhesions or bands which are able to restrict the development of the fetus. Some of these things have never been explained.

One of the congenital mishaps, which is called "harelip," will be considered in the next column.

Short Cuts

Onions, turnips or carrots cook more quickly and are more tender if cut across the fiber in rings.

Egg yolk will keep fresh for days if covered with cold water and a saucer and placed in the refrigerator.

A delicious sauce for boiled tongue is achieved by combining hot mustard with whipped cream.

To make perfect salad dressings all measurements must be accurate. A set of measuring spoons and a standard measuring cup are indispensable aids.

The coat illustrated here is cited as a "West Coast fur brought East," and continues the popular fish-tail swagger silhouette into the return season.

Guide to Charm

Using a Rich Cream Tones Skin of Face

By JACQUELINE HUNT

AFTER your skin has been thoroughly cleansed with soap and water and every trace of the latter rinsed away, remove the excess moisture by patting with a soft absorbent towel. Then follow whatever treatment seems best for your skin.

If your skin is dry apply a rich, pure, softening cream. There is much "wastefulness" in using creams at home. You tend to use too much and do not leave it on long enough. And you do not massage enough. Take up a little cream on your fingertips and smooth it over the entire surface of the neck and face. Work it in with little pinching movements or with very light rotary strokes such as you used in cleansing.

Work some of the cream carefully into the skin around the eyes, where lines first appear. Smooth outward lightly over the lids and in beneath them. Tap very gently at the outer corners of eyes. Leave the softening cream on your face for ten or fifteen minutes, then remove that which the skin has not absorbed. You may leave just a suggestion of cream around the eyes if you wish.

In removing cleansing cream or the unwanted softening cream, fold two tissues around the fingers, using the paper on the flat surface of the fingers for smoothing the skin with outward, upward strokes. Two or three upward strokes for each cheek and two or three outward strokes for the forehead will remove most of the excess cream. Use your fingertips covered with tissues for cleansing the creases around the nose, mouth, chin, hairline and around the ears. Wrap your tissues around your fingers for the neck—using wide, sweeping upward strokes.

After removing the cream use a large pad of cotton soaked in ice water and then doused with skin tonic or astringent (if your skin needs brisk toning) to slap over the chin vigorously and go over the face again with upward and outward pats.

If the skin is oily omit the massage with the softening cream. The only exception to this rule is the older skin that is sallow and wrinkled as well as oily. A skin of this type needs a special cream with astringent properties to smooth out the lines and help overcome the excess oiliness.

For the younger skin that is merely oily, follow the washing and rinsing with a good skin tonic or astringent. This will be sufficient to tighten the pores and regulate the oil glands.

The skin troubled with acne requires the application of a good healing, greaseless ointment after it has been thoroughly cleansed and dried with pieces of cotton or cleansing tissues that can be thrown away. This is removed by washing gently with soap and water in the morning. The skin should then be rinsed, patted dry, and a soothing, protective lotion applied to discourage excess oiliness and to protect the skin from further infection.

Need Not Cry

If onions are held under water while being peeled you won't weep. Some like to peel them under running water. But the best way is to submerge the onion in a pot or pan of cold water and to do the peeling under the surface.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Please help me with my sad, troublesome problem. I have very, very crooked fingers. I am twenty years old and go out a great deal, yet I hate to show my hands. Is there any way of having my nails filed or painted to make them look even? Or can I exercise my fingers to straighten them? Also, what kind of haircut would you advise for a thin person with glasses—short or long hair, waves or curls? What style hat, tam, beret, or brimmed style?—Mrs. J. C. P."

At your age there is little you can do to change the shape of your fingers. Simply exercise your hands to make them as graceful as you can, and keep the fingernails neatly manicured. A modified almond shape—with tips not too long—and a natural or light coral shade of polish would be nicest for your hands.

Bobbed hair, nicely shaped and softly waved, would be most becoming on a thin person with glasses. As a rule, glasses are less conspicuous and more becoming if you have some softness about the ears, but wear the hair well off the forehead. The rather soft, mannish hats with bangs you can set at daring angles are most becoming.

QUESTION: "How long does an assistant hostess have to remain at a tea? A friend I asked me to assist her at a tea—V. B."

ANSWER: If the group was small and intimate, yes. Otherwise, it would have been enough to seek out one's hostess to explain one's leaving and thank her for a pleasant time. If the occasion is a dinner party the polite thing would be to seek out one's dinner partner and do the same.

QUESTION: "How long does an assistant hostess have to remain at a tea? A friend I asked me to assist her at a tea—V. B."

ANSWER: You should remain until after the last guest has been called and left. This will probably be around six o'clock.

Glorifying an Old Friend

PORK CHOPS, FRENCH STYLE: 4 loin pork chops, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cores and pared apples, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 tablespoon butter, 1/2 cup domestic red wine, 1/2 cup hot water.

Trim chops and dust with salt and pepper. Put in a baking dish. Cover with thin slices of apple. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until the apples begin to soften and the chops to brown. Then pour in hot water and the wine and bake thirty minutes longer.

Wise Buying Helps Reduce Simple Meals Still Can Appeal to the Appetite

By IRENE VAIL

New York—New Year resolutions should include a resolve to be better dressed. It does not necessarily mean spending more money; buying wisely will do the trick. Don't be thrown off balance by every fad that comes along. Your wardrobe can't be all fluff; it must have clothes appropriate for the daily fare, good plain clothes that will not sicken you after a daily diet of them.

Nearly every woman feels impelled to have at least one wool dress. Some of them are smart enough to wear anywhere. Since one may wear wool for months to come, it is not too late to advise looking into what the shops offer in novelty dress wooleens, either in bright or dark colors, or black. Black wool accented with metal, a studded or metal buckled belt, for instance, is smart just now. Belts are often effective enough to make a dress.

It is usual to have a conflict of opinion, or two schools of thought, when a new season is about to begin. Double- or single-breasted ideas are so plentiful one must jump to the conclusion that this year is no exception to the rule. The career of the reefer or guardsman's coat is expected to reach a new high in selling during the coming season. As might be expected, the newest looking interpretations of this tailored silhouette come from the original sponsor of the type—namely, Chanel.

Involved is a contrast in the way patterned material such as the diagonal or striped tweed is introduced, so that decorative effect is attained through the manipulation of the fabric. The Chanel coat with stripes worked on the diagonal to suggest a vestee effect may be added right now to the important steps in the successful career of the reefer.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "At a party recently I was obliged to make a hurried departure. Was it necessary to say goodbye to everyone?—S. L."

MODERN WOMEN

Many of the Socially Prominent Live High Only on Week-ends

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

IN A MORE sentimental age runaway marriages used to be considered highly romantic. The parental blessing was sure to follow after the wrath had died down, and every one was inclined to the belief that all was well that ended well.

But runaway marriages have not been in great favor in later years, and the belated announcement of a secret marriage has caused the raised eyebrow. One might be tolerant, even sympathetic, with such a marriage, but it's hard to be anything but annoyed at the stupidity of young people who marry secretly.

Stern fathers no longer block a disobedient daughter's entrance into their rooms. The exit via the window route is distinctly out of fashion. If young folks aim to marry they have plenty of opportunity for doing so in these days of liberty.

Just recently I have been permitted a new angle on elopements. It is an amusing one, you will agree. It runs something like this: the socially ambitious, but financially embarrassed parents who have one, or several, marriageable daughters are all for the elopement method. It absolves them of responsibility of giving their gal away in style. And styles in weddings run into a considerable sum. Get the idea? It really is a clever one, but between you and me the sophisticated set can no longer be fooled by any such tactics.

"Why can't you and Horace elope?" a fond mother will suggest to her darling. "It would save such a lot of bother and expense, and you know how things are with father."

"Go on. Help yourself," grandmother urged. The little girl retreated a step and said "No." "Well," grandmother commented, "this is the first time I've known that to happen. Don't you like candy?" "No." And that was that.

Some time later grandmother came home. "How did you enjoy your stay with grandmother?" he asked. There was no answer. Then when he had put his cane in the umbrella stand and hung up his hat and coat, he came into the room expectantly. "Come and give your old grandfather a kiss." Dorothy ran to the opposite side of the room, shaking her head from side to side. "Leave her alone," grandmother whispered. "She's been like this all day long."

When Dorothy's mother came to take her home, she said, "Are you ready? We're going home now." Dorothy pouted and shook her head. At this mother laughed. "Of course you don't want to go home. Well, stay here." At this the child screamed, "Take me home!" Grandfather and grandmother looked at each other wonderingly. "She's at the negative stage," the mother explained. "She says 'no' to everything and needs humoring."

Many children pass through a similar stage in growing up. It usually indicates an over-strict attitude on the part of the parent. From constantly having his wishes opposed the child is placed on the defensive and will oppose all suggestions. Such a child does not need humoring at home.

"She says 'no' to everything and needs humoring."

Many children pass through a similar stage in growing up. It usually indicates an over-strict attitude on the part of the parent. From constantly having his wishes opposed the child is placed on the defensive and will oppose all suggestions. Such a child does not need humoring at home.

When Dorothy's mother came to take her home, she said, "Are you ready? We're going home now." Dorothy pouted and shook her head. At this mother laughed. "Of course you don't want to go home. Well, stay here." At this the child screamed, "Take me home!" Grandfather and grandmother looked at each other wonderingly. "She's at the negative stage," the mother explained. "She says 'no' to everything and needs humoring."

DOG TRACK HEARING IS SWELL SHOW

personally taking part was District Attorney Francis P. Healey. Turner told the court the state would try to prove the term "option" is in reality a dummy and that tickets are sold on a pool; that whether a purchaser receives anything in return depends upon whether the dog on which he has an option wins; that some ticket holders get money back and others, who do not have tickets on winning dogs, do not.

He further claimed that if more than one person desired to exercise his "option" and purchase a dog, it would be necessary to determine by chance which of the persons would have the privilege of purchasing the dog.

WAIVES STATEMENT

Leo Sullivan, attorney for the 21 defendants who with a number of spectators crowded the courtroom, waived the making of a statement by the defendants and the state's case was on. Prior to these preliminaries, however, a large pile of the newspaper, option tickets and printed forms of various kinds piled in the now famous raid had been carried into the courtroom.

FOURTEEN DISMISSED

Dismissal of the charges against fourteen of the defendants was made on the motion of Turner, who testified his intention of using them to prove his case. He then called Arthur Carr, an undercover man in the employ of the district attorney's office, who, off and on since last April, frequented the dog track gathering up evidence. Although he bought options on several occasions, it developed during cross-examination that he purchased none the night of the raid, December 18.

Carr was placed on the stand as an expert witness, and after constant objections from Attorney Sullivan, he testified that he had seen the dog track under the name of Carr. However, when Sullivan took him in hand he was forced to admit in answer to virtually every question propounded to him that he "did not know." As a result, his testimony was not of much value to the prosecution.

KNOW NOTHING PARTY

Attorney Turner then started calling the men to the stand who were arrested in the raid and against whom the charges had been dismissed. Attorney Sullivan advised the first witness that he could rest on his constitutional privilege and could refuse to testify on the ground that he would incriminate himself but the court ruled against him and told the witness to answer the questions put to him. This witness was a preferred option seller and he could easily qualify as the president of the "I Don't Know" party. It was surprising how little a man can really know. He did not even know the names or locations of the different departments of the racing establishment and with herculean effort only was able to remember a couple of the men who work there. Before answering a question he would look at Attorney Sullivan for guidance and this aroused the ire of District Attorney Francis P. Healey who asked the court to make him desist in such tactics. Sullivan was immediately on his feet declaring he represented the man when he was in the role of defendant before the charge against him was dismissed, he was still his attorney and proposed to protect him in his rights.

This Business Of War

THIS PICTURE, taken during the Italians' southward drive from Adigrat toward Makale, gives an idea of the country over which the invading forces move. Whippet tanks precede the infantry over rough terrain, while the Italians protect themselves against a possible surprise attack by the Ethiopians, reported massing with at least 30,000 men.

Another option seller proved to be equally ignorant of the modus operandi in connection with operation of dog tracks and the purchase of options on dogs. His acquaintance with fellow-workers was also extremely limited and his knowledge of the dog track was confined strictly to the one item of selling secondary options.

If the other twelve of the defendants—and now what the district attorney's office characterizes as "hostile witnesses"—display the same or an equal lack of knowledge, there will be little or no evidence upon which the court can base a ruling whether the seven remaining defendants—G. F. Chapman, associate leader; R. I. Schneider, brother secretary; John Conwood, racing secretary; R. P. B. C. Haves, money room worker; R. R. Haves, calculator; William Richards, money room worker; and S. Hubbard, announcer—will be bound over for trial on charges of selling pools on dog races.

The proceedings throughout the entire day were enlivened by the objections of Defense Attorney Leo Sullivan and his associate called at the attorneys on the other side of the dog track. Towards the end of the day Attorney Turner, who had maintained a calm demeanor when the broadsides of Sullivan came his way, became slightly irked with his witness who just "didn't know nothing nor nobody." He started in to impeach the witness but before he got very far he was reminded by Sullivan that such things just could not be done, so the promise of fireworks spluttered out, and then came adjournment.

Council For More Light Less Speed

State Division of Highways.

SCHOOL BUSES ACCEPTED

Deeds for the streets for the proposed new high school in El Cerrito from the Mercantile Mortgage Company accepted by the council.

The man of the streets show, then he came submitted to the council. It took weeks ago. A time action was taken then by the council as they wanted an eight foot sidewalk in addition to the thirty foot roadway on A-berry avenue.

Action of the council will now allow the Richmond Union high school board to go ahead with the plans for the new school which is badly needed in the city.

ASK FOR PEZONING

Application of G. and S. Bottini for lots 1, 2, 3, in block F. G. H. he zoned as industrial property instead of lot's property, was referred to the planning commission for one week.

The property is west of the Santa Fe tracks between Blake and Hill streets in the Schmidt tract.

If the property is re zoned it is understood a lumber and planning mill will be erected on the site.

AFTER INCOME TAX

Request of Charles J. McColgan, personal income tax director of the state, for list of city employees and their salaries was referred to City Clerk Maria O'Connell to give the necessary information.

THE PROPER PLACE

Removal of the East Bay Regional Park Board for the cooperation of the council in securing 10,000 acres of land from the East Bay Municipal Water District was placed on the table as the city is not a part of the district.

NEW STREET SIGNS

Street Commissioner W. F. Huber reported that 30 new street signs had been erected by the WPA and that grading of streets was progressing slowly on account of the rainy weather.

WANT WATER OFFICE

On suggestion of Councilman Louis Naville the council passed a motion asking the East Bay Municipal Water District to establish an office for the collecting of water bills in the north end of town as present there is only one office in the south end of the city where bills can be paid.

CITY PEDDLES DIRT

Street Commissioner W. F. Huber was granted permission by the council to let dirt excavated from the streets at $1.00 per load, providing the haul was not too long.

Huber said he had already sold 10 loads at $1.50 per load and had an opportunity to sell 40 more at $1.00 per load.

At present time the dirt being removed is from the grading operations on Everett between Potrero and Gladys and also on Potrero avenue.

ADJOURN ONE WEEK

The meeting of the council was adjourned until next Monday to take up the signing of the contract for improvement of Cutler boulevard with The Independent Construction Co. and act on the recommendation of the planning commission on the rezoning of the Bottini property.

AAA Held Invalid By Supreme Court; Benefit Payments To Be Halted

AAA ANNOUNCED IT WOULD STOP BENEFIT PAYMENTS IMMEDIATELY.

As the full scope of the opinion became known, lawyers said it had probably doomed.

THE BANKHEAD COTTON CONTROL ACT.

The Kerr-Smith tobacco act.

THE NEW POTATO ACT.

These three New Deal measures carry definite compulsory provisions through the imposition of heavy taxes on farmers not cooperating with the government.

The New Deal itself did not favor these acts but was forced to accept them by Congress.

SUGAR ACT DIES

The Jones-Costigan sugar act, a part of the AAA, died with the act. Lawyers felt the decision of the majority had cast doubt also over the legality of the Guffey coal act, which imposes a tax on recalcitrants. They studied, for possible revision, parts of the social security act in which the taxing power is used.

IF TO REPUBLICANS

President Roosevelt received the crushing news with a smile. Secretary Wallace was in conference and after reading a note containing the bad news he cast it aside and went on with his conversation. Some Republicans in Congress were jubilant. Others shared the gloom of Democrats who are determined to pass substitute legislation.

THE HAUL WAS NOT TOO LONG.

Huber said he had already sold 10 loads at $1.50 per load and had an opportunity to sell 40 more at $1.00 per load.

At present time the dirt being removed is from the grading operations on Everett between Potrero and Gladys and also on Potrero avenue.

THE POLITICAL EFFECT OF THE DECISION WAS PROBLEMATIC.

Representative Hamilton Fish, Republican New York, said it is "now up to the Republicans" to come forth with a constructive farm program. Minority Leader Charles McNary, of the Senate said he would offer his export-rebate plan. Many agreed that the opinion had projected the farm question into the top flight of political issues in the 1936 campaign.

DOCTORS NAMED

The girl told of traveling from mansion to mansion, luxurious apartments and hotels in New York, Del Monte and abroad—always as a virtual prisoner, never free to enjoy the lavish surroundings sought by her mother.

HER SUIT ALSO NAMED DR. TILTON

E. Tilton, family medical adviser, Dr. Samuel G. Boyd, who performed the sterilization operation, and Mrs. Mary Scully, State department of public health psychiatrist.

ADMITTED CHARGES

Dr. Boyd admitted performing the operation, and Dr. Tilton admitted approving it. Both explained that a report by Mrs. Scully had said that Anne was "feeble minded," with the intelligence of a child of not more than 12. Dr. Tilton said he previously had confirmed the report by his own observations over a period of six to eight months. The sterilization was performed August 18, 1934, at the same time Miss Hewitt underwent an appendicitis operation.

Both Anne and her attorney, Tyler, ridiculed the charges that she was feeble minded.

In addition to the sterilization charges Anne asserted her mother "has lived in a most extravagant manner, has been a conspicuous figure in various gambling casinos where she lost thousands of dollars, and has squandered and dissipated" all of the income derived from the trust fund left herself and her daughter.
